

Oronteus Finaeus Map Intro

In the spirit of giving, which is something that should always be with us, is a PDF link to some fascinating maps of the world. The thought of posting the PDF was inspired by an earlier Con-Trail blog regarding the belief by some that we live on a Flat Earth. There is no intent to belabor the fact the earth is spherical, but more to show that there was more going on in the days of old than many realize.

I have a few artifacts of ancient origin and have been a long time believer that history is nothing like what schools were teaching back in the 50s. A recent YouTube presentation by Graham Hancock brought this map to my attention and it was thought there might be a few of you that would find both the maps and video interesting.
